Sushi Singoff Need a little spice in your life? Grab your friends and head to Fuji Mountain Japanese Restaurant for some great food and karaoke. Rent a room and enjoy a private sing-along. We know you have a diva inside! Sean Flanigan Hotel Manager Winter in Bloom Fighting the winter blues? Check out the winter blooms at Longwood Gardens in Kennett Square. Their indoor floral displays and synchronized fountain shows will knock the SAD right out of you! Jeremy Peck Doorman	Free Your Fashion Sense Walnut Street is always a great spot for fashionistas, but now it's even better. Center City's only Free People retail outlet has just opened around the corner from us, offering a stylish selection of dress-focused outfit options. Silvia Orrego Guest Service Agent New Years Budget Fix Chestnut Street offers not only traditional retailers, but also unique resale shops. Keep your resolution to watch your budget, and enjoy new finds too, at shops like Buffalo Exchange and Second Time Around. Grant Briskin PBX Operator	View From The Top Inside one of the signature towers of Philly's skyline you'll find R2L, where dinner always comes with a side of spectacular. Enjoy the view while sipping a cocktail or dining on their elegant cuisine. Angela Phillips Server, Square 1682 South Street Samples Late night munchies are a specialty of the eateries on South Street. Try Ishkibbles for fries or cheesesteaks or join the line outside Lorenzo's for Pizza by the slice. Rou won't get anything fancy, but you'll surely be satisfied. Ling Phan Housekeeping Intern	MMM... Hot Chocolate! Max Brenner sets a high bar for chocolate and his hot beverages don't disappoint. Try a steaming mug of hot chocolate and enjoy the sweetness that can accompany frigid weather! Kelly Coulom Front Office Manager Gastropub Perfection For a bar that always gets both food and drink right, head to Cooperage on Washington Square. The relaxed atmosphere, outstanding food, and inventive drinks will have you returning in no time. Don't miss their seasonal house-infused vodka. Melissa Braff Manager in Training
WELLNESS	MUST DO	MUST SEE	ONE-OF-A-KIND
Namaste Stretch out in a cool setting with great city views on the hotel's top floor! Fellow guests and hotel associates join in the hour-long session of personalized power yoga with our instructor George every Wednesday at 6:30pm. Rachel McGowan Assistant Controller Yo Adrienne! There's no workout as satisfying as a good run. Run like a local and do the famous 4.4 mile Italian Stallion Rocky Balboa route with me every Wednesday morning. Just be sure to bring your eye of the tiger! Alexandra Kazlauskys People and Culture Manager	Monopoly Anyone? The former Reading Railroad Terminal (yes, from THE Monopoly game!) is now our historical farmer's market. An exhilarating selection of baked goods, meats, poultry, seafood, produce, flowers, ethnic foods, cookware and eclectic restaurants are peppered throughout the Market along with mouth watering aromas. Unique, hand-made pottery, jewelry and crafts from around the world are also available. The market is a microcosm of the city, displaying our extraordinary diversity. Michael Gardner Guest Service Agent	Impressive Impressionist The Philadelphia Museum of Art is always a great place to visit--there are the Rocky Steps, the views, and of course the great art! This month, Van Gogh's Up Close exhibit is making it extra special. It highlights the last years of an amazing artist's career. Lindsay Black Manager in Training Strange Science Founded in 1849, the College of Physicians' Mutter Museum is a storehouse for medical oddities. Now among the items displayed find President Cleveland's tumor and Albert Einstein's brain! Lauren Schumacher Sales and Marketing Intern	How to talk like a local Jeet yet? = Did you eat yet? Wooder = Water Jawn = Thing Youse = You all, you plural Gravy = Pasta sauce Wiz wit = Cheesesteak with Cheese Wiz and onions From all the local experts at Hotel Palomar
